Isle à Quatre

Isle à Quatre, St. Vincent

Details

One of the Last Truly Untouched Islands Isle à Quatre is an exceptional private island of approximately 376 acres, located just 1–2 miles south of Bequia and its airport, and only 5 miles west of Mustique. Uninhabited and largely unchanged, it represents one of the very last opportunities in the Caribbean to acquire an island of genuine scale, natural integrity, and long-term vision potential. A Landscape Shaped by History Sharing its early history with Bequia, Isle à Quatre was once settled and cultivated by the French until the end of the Seven Years' War.
